Congress of the United States

Washington, DC 20515

June 5, 2024

The Honorable Gary Gensler
 Chair
 U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission
 100 F Street NE
 Washington, D.C. 20549

Dear Chairman Gensler:

We write to follow up a previous letter signed by over seventy Members of Congress requesting that the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) review events surrounding Meta Materials Series A preferred shares (MMTLP).

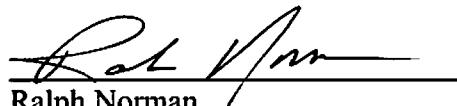

As you know, MMTLP was created during a merger between Meta Materials (MMAT) and Torchlight Energy Resources (TRCH) to provide preferred stock dividends to TRCH shareholders. MMTLP shares began trading on the OTC market in 2021. In the summer of 2022, the SEC received and subsequently approved a Form S-1 and amendments to spin-off a portion of the company, Meta Materials, into a new company, Next Bridge Hydrocarbons (NBH). However, on December 9, 2022, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) issued a U3 halt on trading in the company's stock, preventing shareholders from making further trades. Since the halt, constituent investors have contacted Members of Congress with serious concerns about the spin-off transaction and the subsequent halt on trading. To date, more than 40,000 letters from concerned constituents have been sent to Congress.¹

We have received information indicating that the SEC is investigating events related to MMTLP. Upon completion of your investigation, we request a briefing with the results of your investigation. We have an obligation to our constituents to provide oversight and ensure our markets are functioning fairly and efficiently.

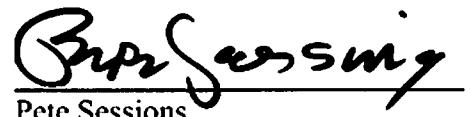

Please respond by June 15, 2024, with confirmation of your commitment to brief Members of Congress and an estimated timeline for the completion of your investigation.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

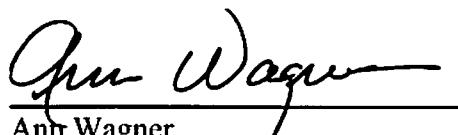

Ralph Norman

Subject: SEC Charges Meta Materials and Former CEOs with Market Manipulation, Fraud and Other Violations

Good Morning,

This morning the Securities and Exchange Commission filed charges against Meta Materials Inc. and its former CEOs, John Brda and George Palikaras. The company has agreed to settle the SEC's charges in an administrative proceeding, while the SEC's litigation against Brda and Palikaras will proceed in federal district court. Please find attached the complaint and order filed by the Commission. Additionally, I have included the Commission's full statement below. As always, please don't hesitate to reach out with any questions. Thank you.

SEC Charges Meta Materials and Former CEOs with Market Manipulation, Fraud and Other Violations

Washington, D.C., June 25, 2024 – The Securities and Exchange Commission today filed charges against Meta Materials Inc. and its former CEOs, John Brda and George Palikaras. The company has agreed to settle the SEC's charges in an administrative proceeding, while the SEC's litigation against Brda and Palikaras will proceed in federal district court.

The SEC's complaint against Brda and Palikaras alleges that, as a result of a concerted market manipulation scheme, Meta Materials, a Nevada corporation headquartered in Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, Canada, raised $137.5 million from investors in an at-the-market (ATM) offering in June 2021 immediately prior to the merger of Brda's Torchlight Energy Resources Inc. and Palikaras' Metamaterial Inc. that formed Meta Materials.

Pg 12

The SEC's complaint, filed in U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York, alleges that Brda and Palikaras planned and conducted the manipulative scheme that included, among other things, issuing a preferred stock dividend immediately before the merger. The complaint alleges that Brda and Palikaras told certain investors and consultants—and hinted via social media—that the dividend would force short sellers to exit their positions and trigger a "short squeeze" that would artificially raise the price of the company's common stock. The SEC further alleges that Brda and Palikaras also misrepresented the company's efforts to sell its oil and gas assets and distribute proceeds to preferred stockholders, giving investors a false impression of the value of the dividend. While investors held or bought the company's common stock to receive the dividend, the complaint alleges, the company was cashing in by selling $137.5 million in an ATM offering at prices that the company, Brda, and Palikaras knew were temporarily inflated by their manipulative scheme. "We have two days," the complaint alleges Brda told Palikaras after the first day of the ATM offering, "to take advantage of the squeeze..."

"The conduct we allege was a sophisticated, yet brazen plan by a public company and its former CEOs to purposely mislead investors in the company's stock," said Eric Werner, Director of the SEC's Fort Worth Regional Office. "This conduct is particularly alarming because it involves public company CEOs who were more concerned with 'burning the shorts' than creating long-term value for shareholders."

The SEC's complaint charges Brda and Palikaras with violating the antifraud and proxy disclosure provisions of the federal securities laws, and charges Brda with aiding and abetting Meta Materials's violations of the reporting, internal accounting controls, and books and records provisions. The complaint seeks permanent injunctions, officer-and-director bars, and civil penalties from both defendants. The complaint also seeks disgorgement with pre-judgment interest from Brda.

The SEC also instituted a separate administrative proceeding against Meta Materials, entering a settled order finding that Meta Materials violated the antifraud, reporting, internal accounting controls, and books and records provisions of the federal securities laws. Without admitting or denying the findings, Meta Materials was ordered to cease and desist from violations of the relevant provisions of the federal securities laws and to pay a $1,000,000 penalty.

The SEC's investigation was conducted by Christopher Rogers and Ty Martinez of the SEC's Fort Worth Regional Office under the supervision of Samantha Martin, B. David Fraser, and Mr. Werner. The SEC's litigation against Brda and Palikaras will be conducted by Patrick Disbennett and supervised by Keefe Bernstein.

A separate Commission investigation regarding subsequent events related to Meta Materials (MMTLP) remains ongoing. If you are an individual with information related to this investigation or any other related suspected fraud and you wish to contact the SEC staff, please submit a tip at SEC.gov.

Dear Chairman Gensler and President Cook:

I am writing regarding a corporate action taken by the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) on Meta Material's Series A Preferred Shares, that had traded under the symbol MMLTP. I am writing to share the concerns of my affected constituents who are concerned over the holding and the status of their shares, and to request information.

I understand that the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and FINRA are charged with protecting investors and the public interest by mitigating market instability. Several of my constituents report they experienced financial distress as a result of the regulatory action of FINRA to halt trading of MMLTP on December 8, 2022, just days before the announced deletion of the MMTLP symbol slated for December 13, 2022.

Some of my constituents are seeking information on why this action was taken and the future state of their investments. They are requesting affirmation that SEC and/or FINRA acted within their regulatory authority and operated under standard practices by issuing the trading halt, and a written response outlining what they can expect to occur with regard to their current holdings, including timelines.

Thank you for your full and fair consideration of this request for information and for responding in a timely manner. Please contact my district director Jenny Callaway at (b)(6) should you have any questions regarding this matter.

Dear Representative Huffman:

Thank you for your November 16, 2023 letter to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) on behalf of the above-referenced constituent concerns. Your correspondence was forwarded to the SEC's Office of Investor Education and Advocacy.

You express your constituents' concerns regarding the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority's (FINRA) trading halt of Meta Materials Inc. (MMTLP). FINRA, which imposed the halt, has posted information regarding the MMTLP trading halt on its website. Please see FAQ: MMTLP Corporate Action and Trading Halt FINRA.org. Securities exchanges and self-regulatory organizations, rather than the SEC, determine whether to impose a trading halt in a stock. For more information about trading halts generally, please see "Trading Halts and Delays" in the SEC's Investor.gov glossary.

The SEC's Office of Investor Education and Advocacy processes many comments and complaints from individual investors and others. We keep records of the correspondence we receive in a searchable database that SEC staff may make use of in inspections, examinations, and investigations. In addition, some of the correspondence we receive is referred to other SEC offices and divisions for their review. If they have any questions or wish to respond directly to your letter, they will contact you.

Sincerely,

UNITED STATES
SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20549

OFFICE OF THE CHAIR

February 6, 2024

The Honorable Ralph Norman
U.S. House of Representatives
569 Cannon House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Representative Norman:

Thank you for your December 22, 2023, letter addressed to Robert Cook and me regarding Meta Materials Series A preferred shares (MMTLP). I appreciate your interest in this issue.

Respectfully, requests for information sought by FINRA, and for analyses performed by FINRA, are best answered by FINRA.

That said, the SEC's Division of Examinations, through its FINRA and Securities Industry Oversight (FSIO) program, conducts examinations of FINRA to assess its compliance with applicable laws and regulations as well as to promote fairness, efficiency, and effectiveness in its operations. While I cannot comment on any particular examination, our FSIO program has the role to assess whether FINRA followed its own rules and policies, the adequacy of those rules, and whether they are implemented fairly and without influence from conflicts of interest.

Regarding the share count information you request, I note that Next Bridge included information about the number of MMTLP shares outstanding in its public disclosures in connection with the Next Bridge / MMTLP corporate action. The consolidated audit trail (CAT) data and Blue Sheets you reference in your letter contain non-public regulatory information regarding transactions; this information permits the Commission and the securities self-regulatory organizations to conduct timely and thorough surveillance and enforcement inquiries. The information in the CAT and Blue Sheets is kept confidential and generally is protected by exemptions to the Freedom of Information Act.

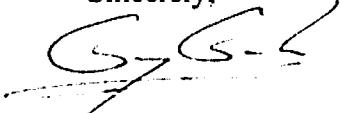

As for your questions regarding whether there is evidence of any violations of particular securities laws or SEC rules—as a matter of policy, the Commission conducts enforcement investigations on a confidential basis and generally does not acknowledge the existence or non-existence of any investigation unless or until charges are filed. We do so to protect the integrity of our investigations, safeguard the privacy of witnesses, and avoid damaging the reputation of persons who may not be charged. Accordingly, I cannot comment specifically on certain matters raised in your letter. I assure you that the Commission's staff carefully will consider the information included in your correspondence in connection with our statutory and regulatory responsibilities.

Please do not hesitate to contact me at (202) 551-2100 or have a member of your staff contact Kevin Burris, Director of the Office of Legislative and Intergovernmental Affairs, at (202) 551-2010 if you have any additional questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Hey Kevin,

I'm in the district this week for constituent meetings, and with appropriations on the floor the rest of the summer, I won't really have time for a coffee until August recess. Happy to meet then, but in the meantime, I'm really hoping to get some answers and clarity for our constituents on the MMTLP matter that my boss has raised to the SEC several times.

Congressman Robert W. Cook
President and Chief Executive Officer
Financial Industry Regulatory Authority
1735 K Street, NW
Washington, D.C. 20006

Dear Chairman Gensler and President Cook:

I am writing regarding a corporate action taken by the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) on Meta Material's Series A Preferred Shares, that had traded under the symbol MMLTP. I am writing to share the concerns of my affected constituents who are concerned over the holding and the status of their shares, and to request information.

I understand that the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and FINRA are charged with protecting investors and the public interest by mitigating market instability. Several of my constituents report they experienced financial distress as a result of the regulatory action of FINRA to halt trading of MMLTP on December 8, 2022, just days before the announced deletion of the MMTLP symbol slated for December 13, 2022.

Some of my constituents are seeking information on why this action was taken and the future state of their investments. They are requesting affirmation that SEC and or FINRA acted within their regulatory authority and operated under standard practices by issuing the trading halt, and a written response outlining what they can expect to occur with regard to their current holdings, including timelines.

Thank you for your full and fair consideration of this request for information and for responding in a timely manner. Please contact my district director Jenny Callaway at (415) 264-8222 should you have any questions regarding this matter.

The Honorable Gary Gensler
Chairman
U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission
100 F Street, NE
Washington, DC 20549

Dear Chairman Gensler

I write to request that the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) examine the events surrounding the Financial Industry Regulation Authority's (FINRA) decision to implement a trading halt of Metamaterials' Series A Preferred Shares (MMTLP).

I have heard from many of my constituents in South Texas who were adversely affected by this decision. I believe it is imperative that, as public officials and offices, we maintain a transparent process.

As you know, following the merger between Torchlight Energy Resources and Metamaterial Inc. in June 2021, MMTLP shares were unlisted, and commenced trading on the over the counter (OTC) market. In 2022, the SEC granted approval for a Form S-1 and related amendments to facilitate the spin-off of a portion of the company, Meta Materials, into a new entity known as Next Bridge Hydrocarbons. On December 9, 2022, FINRA issued a U3 halt on trading MMTLP stock, which prevented shareholders from executing further trades and left many shareholders with untradeable Next Bridge Hydrocarbons common stock. According to FINRA, the halt was attributed to the SEC's T+2 Settlement Cycle, which requires the settling of securities transactions within two business days of their transaction date.

As a Member of the House Financial Services Committee, I take an active interest in ensuring transparency and the proper regulations are in place to protect investors and maintain efficient markets. That is why I urge you to investigate the events surrounding the trading halt of MMTLP and ensure no wrongdoing took place. I also ask that you make the findings available to the public.

Thank you for your leadership and attention to this matter, and I look forward to your response. I hope we can continue our work together to protect investors and ensure efficient and fair markets in the economy.

Sincerely,

The Honorable Gary Gensler
Chairman
U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission
100 F Street N.E.
Washington, D.C. 20549

Dear Chair Gensler

We write to request that the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) review events surrounding Meta Materials Series A preferred shares (MMTLP). Additionally, we request that the SEC provide the Committee with a substantive briefing on its findings. MMTLP shares began trading on the OTC market in 2021. In the summer of 2022, the SEC received and subsequently approved a Form S-1 and amendments to spin off a portion of the company, Meta Materials, into a new company, Next Bridge Hydrocarbons. On December 9, 2022, FINRA issued a U3 halt on trading in the company's stock preventing shareholders from making further trades. Since the halt, constituent investors have contacted Members of Congress and the Committee regarding the spin off transaction and the subsequent halt on trading.

To that end, we request that the SEC to review the activities surrounding these market events. The review should include a timeline of trading of MMTLP on OTC markets, the actions taken by the SEC, self-regulatory organizations, the issuers and the transfer agent and other relevant parties during the time MMTLP was traded, and the transaction that produced the Next Bridge shares. In addition, please include information regarding the S-1 filed by Next Bridge Hydrocarbons on July 26, 2023. As part of the requested briefing, we ask that SEC staff be prepared to identify any regulatory or legislative gaps that may be addressed so that the SEC, FINRA, and regulated entities may better protect investors and strengthen market integrity. Your findings will allow the Committee to better understand the issues that have been raised by investors.

As you know, the securities industry is regulated by a disclosure-based regime, and transparency is paramount to the SEC's goals of protecting investors and ensuring market integrity. We believe that it is appropriate that the SEC review these market events and determine what, if any, wrongdoing may have occurred.

Dear Comptroller Dodaro,

Thank you for the important work you and your staff do to provide essential investigative information to Congress.

I understand that you are currently undergoing your triennial review of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) oversight of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. (FINRA). As part of this review, I request that you include information pertaining to the MMTLP trading halt. This is an issue that is of the utmost importance to a number of my constituents, and I believe that there should be further transparency regarding the events surrounding the trading halt.

I appreciate your consideration and look forward to reading the final report.

Dear Chairman Gensler and Mr. Cook:

We write to request that the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) and the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) review events surrounding Meta Materials Series A preferred shares (MMTLP).

As you know, MMTLP was created during a merger between Meta Materials (MMAT) and Torchlight Energy Resources (TRCH) to provide preferred stock dividends to TRCH shareholders.¹ MMTLP shares began trading on the OTC market in 2021. In the summer of 2022, the SEC received and subsequently approved a Form S-1 and amendments to spin-off a portion of the company, Meta Materials, into a new company, Next Bridge Hydrocarbons (NBH).² On December 9, 2022, FINRA issued a U3 halt on trading in the company's stock, preventing shareholders from making further trades.³ Since the halt, constituent investors have contacted Members of Congress regarding the spin-off transaction and the subsequent halt on trading. Specifically, we have received more than 40,000 letters from concerned investors.⁴

Many of our constituents have concerns regarding the circumstances surrounding the U3 halt and level of short selling in MMTLP. As you know, the securities industry is regulated by a disclosure-based regime, and transparency is paramount to FINRA's and the SEC's goals of protecting investors and ensuring market integrity. We believe it is appropriate that FINRA and

Please provide a response to the following questions and requests no later than January 31, 2024:

1. Provide a timeline of trading of MMTLP on the OTC markets; the actions taken by the SEC, self-regulatory organizations, the issuers, the transfer agent, and any other relevant parties during the time MMTLP was traded; and the transaction that produced Next Bridge Hydrocarbon shares.
2. The Former CEO of Torchlight Energy Resources stated that “MMTLP was never designed to trade.”⁵ Please provide a detailed explanation, including the relevant statutory authority and procedures, that allowed for MMTLP shares to trade on the OTC market.
3. Provide the relevant statutory authority, jurisdiction, and adherence to established industry standards regarding the U3 trading halt of MMTLP issued on December 9, 2022.
4. Provide the exact date and circumstances surrounding FINRA’s determination to implement the U3 halt, including all unredacted communications between FINRA, SEC, governmental agencies, any outside organizations, FINRA members and non-FINRA members, and any other individuals. Also include all information surrounding the SEC or FINRA’s knowledge of the share price in any public or non-public exchange before issuance of the U3 halt.
5. Provide the first date and time that FINRA or its agents advised any market participant in any manner that MMTLP would no longer trade on December 9, 2022. Include any relevant documents or communication.
6. Did FINRA issue a Blue Sheet request for MMTLP during the period of October 2021 through December 2022? Why or why not?
7. How many questions, complaints, and/or inquiries have you received regarding MMTLP?
8. Provide the statutory or legal justification used by the SEC and FINRA to ignore public requests and congressional inquiries regarding MMTLP.
9. Provide the delivery of a certified audited and consolidated count of shares that were held by all U.S. and foreign financial institutions, together with their clearing firm counter-brokers including trades not reported in the consolidated audit trail (CAT), related to MMTLP on the date of December 12, 2022. 11. In your view, did MMTLP investors knowingly enter into a risk-taking transaction with full understanding of material information and without misleading guidance from social media or elsewhere? For example, the SEC has charged social media influencers with manipulation schemes in the past.⁶
12. In your view, are there better ways to provide transparency and clarity regarding risk disclosures that could enhance market integrity and reduce market disruptions? For example, retail investors and experts (e.g., OTC Markets Group's vice president) were reportedly confused about MMTLP's final trading date.⁷ As such, investors may not have been able to optimize their investment decisions.
13. Do you have evidence to suggest the existence of fraud and manipulation related to MMTLP transactions, such as illegal forms of naked shorts and counterfeit shares, that could distort the market?
14. Have you seen any indications of insider trading and/or pump and dump related to MMTLP transactions?
15. Are your organizations willing to work with NBH to determine a resolution for existing shareholders? For example, some investors have expressed concern that, even though their brokerage account statements include shares of NBH in their account, these shares may not have actually been delivered to their broker-dealers.
16. Identify any regulatory or legislative gaps that should be addressed to ensure the SEC, FINRA, and other regulated entities may better protect investors and strengthen market integrity.

We look forward to your response. Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

APPENDIX L

Dear Chairman Gensler:

We write to follow up a previous letter signed by over seventy Members of Congress requesting that the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) review events surrounding Meta Materials Series A preferred shares (MMTLP).

As you know, MMTLP was created during a merger between Meta Materials (MMAT) and Torchlight Energy Resources (TRCH) to provide preferred stock dividends to TRCH shareholders. MMTLP shares began trading on the OTC market in 2021. In the summer of 2022, the SEC received and subsequently approved a Form S-1 and amendments to spin-off a portion of the company, Meta Materials, into a new company, Next Bridge Hydrocarbons (NBH). However, on December 9, 2022, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) issued a U3 halt on trading in the company's stock, preventing shareholders from making further trades. Since the halt, constituent investors have contacted Members of Congress with serious concerns about the spin-off transaction and the subsequent halt on trading. To date, more than 40,000 letters from concerned constituents have been sent to Congress.

We have received information indicating that the SEC is investigating events related to MMTLP. Upon completion of your investigation, we request a briefing with the results of your investigation. We have an obligation to our constituents to provide oversight and ensure our markets are functioning fairly and efficiently.

Please respond by June 15, 2024, with confirmation of your commitment to brief Members of Congress and an estimated timeline for the completion of your investigation.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Dear Chairman Gensler and President Cook:

I am writing regarding a corporate action taken by the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) on Meta Material's Series A Preferred Shares, that had traded under the symbol MMILTP. I am writing to share the concerns of my affected constituents who are concerned over the holding and the status of their shares, and to request information.

I understand that the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and FINRA are charged with protecting investors and the public interest by mitigating market instability. Several of my constituents report they experienced financial distress as a result of the regulatory action of FINRA to halt trading of MMILTP on December 8, 2022, just days before the announced deletion of the MMILTP symbol slated for December 13, 2022.

Some of my constituents are seeking information on why this action was taken and the future state of their investments. They are requesting affirmation that SEC and or FINRA acted within their regulatory authority and operated under standard practices by issuing the trading halt, and a written response outlining what they can expect to occur with regard to their current holdings, including timelines.

Thank you for your full and fair consideration of this request for information and for responding in a timely manner. Please contact my district director Jenny Callaway at (415) 264-8222 should you have any questions regarding this matter.

Dear Chairman Gensler

I write to request that the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) examine the events surrounding the Financial Industry Regulation Authority's (FINRA) decision to implement a trading halt of Metamaterials' Series A Preferred Shares (MMTLP).

I have heard from many of my constituents in South Texas who were adversely affected by this decision. I believe it is imperative that, as public officials and offices, we maintain a transparent process.

As you know, following the merger between Torchlight Energy Resources and Metamaterial Inc. in June 2021, MMTLP shares were unlisted, and commenced trading on the over the counter (OTC) market. In 2022, the SEC granted approval for a Form S-1 and related amendments to facilitate the spin-off of a portion of the company, Meta Materials, into a new entity known as Next Bridge Hydrocarbons. On December 9, 2022, FINRA issued a US halt on trading MMTLP stock, which prevented shareholders from executing further trades and left many shareholders with untradeable Next Bridge Hydrocarbons common stock. According to FINRA, the halt was attributed to the SEC's T+2 Settlement Cycle, which requires the settling of securities transactions within two business days of their transaction date.

As a Member of the House Financial Services Committee, I take an active interest in ensuring transparency and the proper regulations are in place to protect investors and maintain efficient markets. That is why I urge you to investigate the events surrounding the trading halt of MMTLP and ensure no wrongdoing took place. I also ask that you make the findings available to the public.

Thank you for your leadership and attention to this matter, and I look forward to your response. I hope we can continue our work together to protect investors and ensure efficient and fair markets in the economy.

Sincerely,

The Honorable Gary Gensler
Chairman
U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission
100 F Street N.E.

Dear Chair Gensler:

We write to request that the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) review events surrounding Meta Materials Series A preferred shares (MMTLP). Additionally, we request that the SEC provide the Committee with a substantive briefing on its findings. MMTLP shares began trading on the OTC market in 2021. In the summer of 2022, the SEC received and subsequently approved a Form S-1 and amendments to spin off a portion of the company, Meta Materials, into a new company, Next Bridge Hydrocarbons. On December 9, 2022, FINRA issued a U3 halt on trading in the company's stock preventing shareholders from making further trades. Since the halt, constituent investors have contacted Members of Congress and the Committee regarding the spin off transaction and the subsequent halt on trading.

To that end, we request that the SEC to review the activities surrounding these market events. The review should include a timeline of trading of MMTLP on OTC markets, the actions taken by the SEC, self regulatory organizations, the issuers and the transfer agent and other relevant parties during the time MMTLP was traded, and the transaction that produced the Next Bridge shares. In addition, please include information regarding the S-1 filed by Next Bridge Hydrocarbons on July 26, 2023. As part of the requested briefing, we ask that SEC staff be prepared to identify any regulatory or legislative gaps that may be addressed so that the SEC, FINRA, and regulated entities may better protect investors and strengthen market integrity. Your findings will allow the Committee to better understand the issues that have been raised by investors.

As you know, the securities industry is regulated by a disclosure-based regime, and transparency is paramount to the SEC's goals of protecting investors and ensuring market integrity. We believe that it is appropriate that the SEC review these market events and determine what, if any, wrongdoing may have occurred.

Dear Comptroller Dodaro,

Thank you for the important work you and your staff do to provide essential investigative information to Congress.

I understand that you are currently undergoing your triennial review of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) oversight of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. (FINRA). As part of this review, I request that you include information pertaining to the MMELP trading halt. This is an issue that is of the utmost importance to a number of my constituents, and I believe that there should be further transparency regarding the events surrounding the trading halt.

I appreciate your consideration and look forward to reading the final report.

Sincerely,

Mike Levin
